5. Formatar, mudar de computador ou desinstalar o ArcGIS.

Antes de formatar, mudar de computador ou desinstalar o ArcGIS deverá proceder à desautorização da licença. A Esri Portugal criou um documento com as indicações de como proceder nestes casos e disponibilizou-o em:

. http://software.esri-portugal.pt/Como_desautorizar_licencas_ArcGIS_10.pdf

6. Situações mais frequentes.

Problemas a autorizar a licença.

Verifique se activou o seu código de registo (EVA) em <http://www.esri.com/EducationEdition>.

Já tenho o software instalado. Como devo proceder?

Active o seu novo código de registo (EVA) em <http://www.esri.com/EducationEdition>.

Posteriormente deverá efectuar os seguintes passos:

- Menu Iniciar > Programas > ArcGIS > ArcGIS Administrator > Desktop. Confirme que tem ativo ArcInfo (Single Use) > Apply.
- Availability > Deverá ter a descrição do que está instalado e autorizado assim como a data de termino (1 ano a contar desde a data de registo).
- Ok.

Inicie o ArcMap e verifique que está a funcionar correctamente.

Adicionalmente a Esri recomenda que instale o Service Pack mais recente.

Qual é o Service Pack mais recente?

Poderá consultar qual é o Service Pack, assim como os Patch, mais recente em:

. <http://support.esri.com/en/downloads/patches-servicepacks>

A Esri Portugal recomenda que instale o Service Pack mais recente e os Patch que se relacionem com funcionalidades que irá utilizar.

O ArcMap não abre.

- Menu Iniciar > Programas > ArcGIS > ArcGIS Administrator > Desktop. Confirme que tem ativo ArcInfo (Single Use) > Apply.

Onde posso fazer download novamente do ArcGIS 10.2?

<http://www.esri.com/EducationEdition>

A Esri tem algum sítio de ajuda online?

Sim, em <http://www.esri.com/landing-pages/software/arcgis/arcgis102-eval-help>.

O ArcGIS for Desktop funciona em Sistemas Operativos da Apple?

O MAC OS não é um sistema suportado conforme pode verificar nos requisitos do ArcGIS Desktop disponíveis aqui.

Para funcionar num MAC OS deverá seguir uma destas possibilidades:

In <http://edcommunity.esri.com/software-and-data/mac-os-support> (Apple Macintosh and iOS Support: Esri GIS Options).

V. Windows-based tools under BootCamp

<http://www.apple.com/support/bootcamp>

Apple has released a product called BootCamp, available for MacOS 10.4 and higher, which allows the Intel-based Macs to load a full version of WinXP or above, and run Windows applications at "full speed." Upon boot-up, the user chooses to boot into MacOS or into Windows. Testing done by ESRI staff and others seems to confirm that such a setup is indeed able to run Windows and applications at "full speed", and that ArcGIS applications are able to run even heavy-duty analytical operations very swiftly. The user must have a properly licensed copy of WinXP or above and must be facile with running Windows.

VI. Windows-based tools under Parallels

<http://www.parallels.com/products/desktop/>

Parallels has a "virtual machine" product called Parallels Desktop for Mac which allows the Intel-based Macs to load a full version of Windows (many versions) and run applications at "high speed." The user can move back and forth between Windows and MacOS applications. Testing done by ESRI staff and others seem to confirm that such a setup works quite well, and current versions of ArcGIS applications (including 3D applications) run swiftly even for analytical operations, though perhaps not quite as fast as on a native PC or under BootCamp (since memory is split between the two operating systems). Here again, the user must have a properly licensed copy of Windows and must be facile with running Windows-based applications.

VII. Windows-based tools under VMware Fusion

<http://www.vmware.com/products/fusion/>

VMware has released a "virtual machine" product called Fusion which allows the Intel-based Macs to load a full version of Windows (XP and above) and run applications at "high speed." The user can move back and forth between Windows and MacOS applications. ESRI staff has not tested Fusion but reports from others indicate that such a setup works well, and current versions of ArcGIS applications run swiftly even for analytical operations, though perhaps not quite as fast as on a native PC or under BootCamp (since memory is split between the two operating systems). Here again, the user must have a properly licensed copy of Windows and must be facile with running Windows-based applications.
